Officials raid 'puppy mill'

By Andy Sterling
Staff writer

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP — Inspectors for the Illinois Department of Agriculture and the Madison County Humane Society closed down a "puppy mill" on Illinois 162 on Thursday, confiscating 14 purebred dogs.

"The conditions were absolutely horrible," said Cheri Rice, head of the society's abuse and neglect committee. "I've never seen anything like it in my life."

The dogs were owned by Richard Robbins, of Madison, who agreed to turn over the dogs to the Humane Society — rather than face charges of cruelty to animals or make expensive modifications within 30 days in order to comply with state codes.

Rice said there was feces everywhere in the wire pens and in a shed in which the animals were kept. No water was available, and food had simply been thrown on the ground, she said. There were weeds three feet tall all around the enclosure.

She said neighbors of the house in the 4300 block of Illinois 162 said several dogs had died from heat exhaustion several weeks ago.

But Robbins said conditions at the kennel were the fault of his ex-wife, who moved out of the house there two weeks ago.

"She let the weeds grow up and the pens become such a mess," Robbins said. Moreover, he added, the food on the ground had been knocked out of dishes by the dogs.

Robbins said the dogs all had water, too. His ex-wife, Leslie, could not be reached for comment.

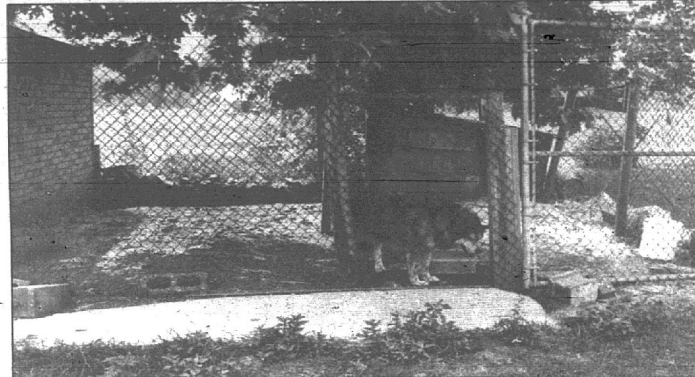

Authorities were alerted to the facility by Nameoki Township Animal Control, which got calls Wednesday about several stray dogs.

Two of the dogs, which had escaped, were struck and killed by cars before they could be caught, Rice said. A third was captured and impounded.

Robbins said someone had let the dogs out while he was at work. He said someone had previously stolen five or six of his dogs and had cut up a water hose that reached to the pens.

"I tried to explain to (the investigators) the conditions I'd been stuck with," Robbins said. "I've been trying to take possession of the house."

He said he had no choice but to turn the dogs over to authorities — not because of the expense of bringing the kennel up to state code, but because the state investigator had said the improvements must be made within 30 days.

People who had previously signed up to adopt specific breeds were contacted after the dogs were taken into custody by the Humane Society, and all but two of the dogs had found new homes by Friday afternoon, Rice said.

The dogs, all of whom were registered with the American Kennel Club, included two male mutts, three collies, two Springer spaniels, two shih tzus, three Pekinese and two Pomeranians. All but the two mutts, both females, were adopted.

By agreeing to give up the dogs, Robbins avoided a fine of $500 to $1,000, Rice said. He was allowed to keep one large, mean dog for which Rice was certain the society would be unable to find a home.

Robbins was told by the state inspector that he was subject to future random inspections by Rice and could be prosecuted if the dog and any others Robbins might subsequently acquire were found to be neglected.

He was allowed to keep a number of ferrets because they fall outside the state jurisdiction, Rice said.

The state inspector, who works for the Animal Welfare Division of the Department of Agriculture, asked that his name not be used.

Bowler testifies on real estate dealings

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

EAST ST. LOUIS — Nearly broke and unemployed, Paul Ray Bowler still had dreams of becoming a millionaire in the real estate market with no money down.

Bowler, vice president of the Granite City School Board, was on the witness stand Friday afternoon in the fraud and conspiracy trial of Granite City real estate broker Gary Flood.

During the preceding 4½ days in federal court, Bowler's name had come up during the testimony of almost every witness as they unfolded a story of false information and duplicate real estate sales contracts with different sales prices.

Bowler was on the stand as a prosecution witness for three hours Friday and will still be on the stand when the trial resumes 9:30 a.m. Monday.

He testified that in 1983 he was facing an uncertain future with the family trucking business. Bowler admitted he was living life in what many would consider an extravagant style, driving a Rolls-Royce and a Jaguar convertible.

Bowler said he became fascinated by advertisements on late-night television about making a fortune by buying real estate with no money down and getting money back at the sale closing. In fact, Bowler said, he even attended a seminar on the subject in St. Louis.

After attending the seminar, Bowler said, he decided that was the kind of life he wanted to lead — "I could buy real estate and have money in my pocket."

"I told her what I'd seen and she said sales with no money down were made all the time," he said.

Flood was indicted by a federal grand jury on April 20, 1989, on one felony count of conspiracy to defraud the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and six felony counts of making false statements on applications to obtain government-insured loans. An amended indictment, containing the same seven counts, was filed Aug. 25, 1989.

The conspiracy charge and all but one of the false-statement charges against Flood involve Bowler's 1984 purchase of apartment buildings at 3916, 3924, 4052 and 4060 Oakmont Drive in Pontoon Beach and a house at 2617 Pine St. in Granite City. All were purchased using FHA-insured loans.

Bowler, in February 1989, pleaded guilty to a single felony count of making a false statement on a loan application. Bowler had been indicted in December 1989 on four counts of making false statements on loan applications, but the other three counts were dropped in return for his guilty plea and his agreement to testify against Flood.

His first transaction with Flood, Bowler testified, was the purchase of a commercial building on Broadway in Venice. He put little or nothing down and got money back at the closing because the seller had agreed to take a second mortgage.

He said Flood worked out all the details and he never met the seller.

His next transaction, he said, was the Pine Street property. Pete Munoz, the seller, Bowler and Flood met at Flood's office in Granite City. They rode together to Madison County Title Co. in Edwardsville to close the sale.

When they got back to Flood's office, Munoz had a check for $4,603 written to him by Bowler. That was the amount Munoz expected on a sales contract he signed and Bowler signed for the agreed sales price of $50,000.

Bowler had a check, made out to and Summerstage offers 'Gypsy' as dinner theater in Granite

Summerstage, Granite City's oldest community theater company, will present the Tony Award-winning musical play, "Gypsy," for three performances on Aug. 3, 4 and 5 at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

A full-scale production of the hit Broadway musical will be presented as a dinner theater on Friday, Aug. 3, and Saturday, Aug. 4. Dinner will be served starting at 6:30 p.m. with the musical then beginning at 8.

Tickets cost $10 each and include a complete dinner, catered by Jerry's, and the performance. The tickets may be purchased by calling the Summerstage phone at 451-1032.

A performance-only matinee will be staged at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 5.

"Gypsy" is the story of "Madame" Rose Hovick, an iron-willed stage mother who engineered her two little girls into becoming famous stars.

June grew up to become movie actress June Hovick, and Louise became famous strip-tease dancer, Gypsy Rose Lee.

The role of Mama Rose will be played by Rogers Mefford.

Natasha Mangiaracino and Beth Bodnam will portray June, as a child and adult, respectively.

Louise will be played by Amanda Supp as a child and Pamela Harrison.

Summerstage was founded in 1982 by Scroggins, a Granite City high school speech and theater teacher, along with other members of the community with backgrounds in university theater and little theater.

Chouteau seeks election to kill library annexation

By Sam Hananel
Staff writer

CHOUTEAU TOWNSHIP — Shirley Stegall was never a community activist — until now.

Stegall was angered when she learned the Hartford Public Library District annexed a large area south and southeast of Hartford subject to a backdoor referendum. The area includes part of Chouteau Township in which Stegall resides.

Now Stegall is collecting signatures on a petition to put the issue on the Nov. 6 ballot so residents in the annexed area can decide for themselves whether they want to be included within Hartford's library district.

"It's not that I don't want it," she said. "I want everyone to have a chance to vote for or against it."

In the "backdoor" procedure, once a library board approves an annexation, the ordinance goes into effect unless residents vote to revoke it in an election.

"The state is trying to serve all of the unserved and there are a lot of areas here that are unserved," said Gwen Baker, executive director of the Hartford Library.

"We're giving an opportunity to people who have never had library service."

But Stegall does not think people will

'Top steelmaker in nation' goal of firm honored by city

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

The new leaders of National Steel have outlined a high goal — best in the United States — for the corporation and its divisions.

"We plan to be a positive force in the Granite City community for a long, long time," Kokichi Hagiwara emphasized at the Granite City Ambassadors' late-July gala honoring the Granite City Division of National Steel.

Chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel, Hagiwara said, "Since NKK purchased its initial 50 percent interest in 1984, our two parent companies have worked hand-in-hand to make National Steel America's top steelmaker."

"Neither that goal, nor our cooperative approach to achieving it, will change," Hagiwara told a gathering of 300 at the dinner, held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"If anything, National Steel will be a stronger company than ever. NKK's principal business is, and will continue to be, steel."

"NKK is the second largest steelmaker in Japan and the sixth largest in the world. It is widely recognized for its development of advanced steelmaking technology."

"Access to that wealth of technology, and to Japanese sources of financing, has done much to help National Steel's recovery over the past six years."

"I believe our employees see the purchase of an additional 20 percent (NKK now owns 70 percent of National Steel) as a positive sign," Hagiwara said.

"That is largely because they have seen the willingness of NKK to commit its funds needed to improve our competitive position."

Ronald H. Doerr, president and chief operating officer of National Steel, said, "We want to become America's top steelmaker. Not necessarily the biggest, but certainly the best."

Doerr listed four goals: "A strong commitment to customer satisfaction; better training and improved skills for our employees; the delivery of a superior-quality product; and the continuation of our capital investment program."

"If we are able to achieve these four goals, we will become the best steel company in America."

"We're proud of the honor you've given us this evening. We're proud to be part of the Granite City community and we plan to be an important part of Granite City for many years to come."

Dan Brown, Ambassadors president, was the toastmaster. The speakers included Mayor Von Dee Cruise and Kemp E. Beall, vice president and general manager of National Steel's Granite City Division.

Brown noted that "the Niedringhaus brothers moved to St. Louis from Germany and began making coated household ironware with a speckled enamel that used granite as a key ingredient."

"When their source of iron burned down 20 years later, they built their own mill (in 1870) and in 1894 built the Granite Steel Works.

"Two years later, in 1896, our city was born and took the name of its principal business as its own."

"The family-like relationship between the city and Granite City Steel has endured for almost 100 years."

"Granite City Steel has paid hundreds of millions of dollars in property taxes through the years — nearly $4.5 million last year," Brown said.

"The 3,500 Granite City Steel employees include 1,500 Granite City residents, who return about $50 million each year to our local economy. There also are 750 Granite City Steel retirees living in our city, each contributing in excess of $12,000 to the local economy."

"Granite City Steel has spent more than $1 billion with local companies, helping them to flourish and employ local residents. In 1989, more than $80 million was spent by Granite City Steel with local businesses."

"The Torch Club, funded entirely by Granite City Steel employees, is the largest such community support group in southwestern Illinois."

Brown praised actions and cooperation by the city, school system, park district and library in enhancing the quality of life for steel employees and other citizens.

Dr. J. Peggy Adebol, executive director of international relations for St. Louis, officially represented a St. Louis "sister city," Suwa, Japan, during the evening.

Rosemarie Brown and Anita Eftimoff were chairmen of the gala, and the latter presented to Hagiwara a Gateway Arch replica, a gift from the St. Louis Ambassadors.

Dan Brown presented honorary Granite City Ambassador medallions to Hagiwara and Doerr, and a plaque to Beall recognizing Granite City Steel's "past, present and future contributions to the people of this community."

A film presentation, "People Make a Company. People Make a Community," cited close links between the city and steel firm.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Casimir Kicmal and there was entertainment by the Stan Fornaszewski sextet, Mae Wheeler and Bonnie Fornaszewski.

SIUE's Meridian Ballroom was decorated in Granite City Steel's colors of burgundy and gray, with silver denoting steel.

The greeting committee consisted of Don and Lois Adams,

Jack and Donna Dempsey, Wally and Evie Gorski, Phil and Marti Hogan, Leo and Pat Konzen, Stuart and Cindy Mills, Joseph and Sherry Perigan, Eric and Marie Robertson, Randall and Betty Robertson, Bob and Pat Thomas and Melvin and Janet Wilmsmeyer.

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced that new sessions of gymnastics will begin Tuesday, July 31.

A beginner class will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 6:45 p.m., and an advance class will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:45 to 7:30 p.m.

The classes will run for four weeks. The fee is $8 for YMCA members and $12 for non-members.

For more information, the YMCA can be called at 876-7200. It is located at 2001 Edison Ave.

Blood drive in area Aug. 9

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., will host a Red Cross community blood drive on Thursday, Aug. 9, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the air-conditioned Ketteler Center gymnasium at SEMC.

Donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health and weigh more than 105 pounds. Prizes will be awarded throughout the day to some of those registering as blood donors.

Ruth Ann Gabriel, SEMC blood drive chairman, said, "When you give blood, you give another birthday, another band concert in Wilson Park, another trip to the Arch, another day at Six Flags, another night of 'music under the stars,' another autumn drive along the Great River Road, another talk with a friend, another laugh, another hug, another chance."

"With summer here, the demand for blood becomes critical, and we hope to collect at least 100 units of blood. Whole blood can be separated into components to treat specific medical conditions."

"That way, several patients can benefit from a single donated unit."

Recipients of blood donations range from traffic accident victims to hemophiliacs, to patients undergoing chemotherapy, to those undergoing surgery and to persons who are receiving organ transplants.

Gabriel said, "In the bi-state region alone, 5,000 units a week are needed to meet the needs of 140 hospitals in 60 Missouri and Illinois counties."

Refreshments are served after a blood donation, to help replenish fluids.

"Each person gives less than a pint of blood," Gabriel said. "Since the body replaces the liquid portion of the blood quickly, any after-effects are minimal."

"The energy loss can be compared to the exertion required for a half-mile walk."

"Anyone who has any questions or needs more information about the drive can call me at 798-3128."

Ailing in need of used fans and air conditioners

GRANITE CITY — "Give us your tired, your old (but working) cooling units and fans."

"We need help locating air conditioners and fans for patients being released from the medical center and who have no air-conditioning at home," said Ralph Hausmann, director of Social Work, 798-3018, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"Some patients have heart ailments, asthma, and other illnesses that can become severe when they can't protect themselves from the summer heat.

"There are heat shelters, but some people aren't physically able to leave their homes, and many elderly stay home for fear of a burglary. So, they close themselves up in their homes when it's 100 degrees outside," Hausmann said.

"We are just hoping to get four or five donations to help out a few patients. That would mean a great deal."

Chouteau

appreciate the way the Hartford Library District is going about annexing the land.

"They sneak it your back door and you'll be surprised how many people don't know about it," Stegall said.

She learned of the annexation only after reading a notification in the legal classifieds of the Alton Telegraph on July 16.

According to Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, advertising in a "local newspaper" is the only public notice that library district annexation requires.

The annexation includes all of Chouteau Township south of the Cahokia (Hartford) Canal, in addition to parcels of land in the Edwardsville and Wood River areas, Fort Russell Township and the Kendall Hill subdivision. The Chouteau boundaries include Mitchell.

"It might be legal but that doesn't mean it's right," Stegall said.

Although she is not trying to persuade Chouteau residents to vote either way on the issue, the process of annexation has already influenced her decision.

Chouteau Township Supervisor Morris Miles said he was not even aware that part of the township was being annexed by Hartford's library. Hartford also is in Chouteau Township.

Stegall must turn in the completed petition to the Madison County clerk's office in Edwardsville by Aug. 13, which is 30 days after the Hartford library served public notice of the annexation. Bowles said the petition must be signed by 110 residents of the annexation area, a figure which is 10 percent of the registered voters.

Bowler

endorsed over to him by Munoz, for $14,603. That check was based on a sales contract, using what Bowler said he knew was a false sales price of $60,000, that was used at the closing.

Back at the office, Bowler testified Friday, "I got in my car, Mr. Munoz got in his. I went and deposited my check and I guess he went to deposit his."

Bowler said he really didn't understand what was going on at closing, but he knew what he was signing was false.

"I was told that's how you get property with no money down and money back at closing," he said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Daly asked Bowler if the seminar ever told him to put down false statements.

"Not to my knowledge," Bowler said. He said he got money on Broadway when the seller "took a second" and it seemed like a good deal.

"But Mr. Munoz didn't take a second on the Pine Street property, you took Mr. Munoz's check," Daly said.

"Yes, sir," Bowler said.

Munoz had testified earlier that Bowler seemed to "run things" at the closing and "did all the talking." Although the contract listing a sales price of $60,000 appeared to have his signature, Munoz said he never signed it.

Munoz said he endorsed the check over to Bowler in the car after the closing because "Mr. Bowler said that's the way things were done" and Flood, who was in the car with them, made no objection.

Bowler had been forced to resign his position with the family trucking firm by the time of the Pine Street closing and was unemployed, but left an employment verification he said he knew was false in the loan application.

Shortly after the Pine Street purchase, Bowler testified, he purchased the Beach Club, a bar and restaurant in Pontoon Beach, for $105,000. Flood, he said, was the real estate agent.

Bowler said he and Flood then because the process of purchasing the Oakmont properties. A loan application was filled out in Flood's office by Edward McPike of Delmar Financial Co. in Clayton. It was later typed and processed at the Delmar Financial office.

The application didn't reflect the $105,000 debt for the Beach Club.

"I was told by Ms. Flood it was so new it wouldn't show on any credit report, so she told me not to list it," Bowler said.

Although Bowler was unemployed, the application package included an employment verification form from Tri-City Trucking Co. signed by Paula Burns, Bowler's twin sister.

"I was called to Gaye Flood's office, Mr. McPike was there, and they gave me the form," Bowler said. "I took it to Paula, she signed it, and I took it back to Flood and McPike."

Bowler said he didn't tell Burns what it was for, "I just told her to sign it."

Three celebrations mark man's birthday

Maybell Dillman, who marked her 72nd birthday on July 22, was the guest of honor at three separate events.

The celebration started when her brother and sister-in-law, Carlos and Mary Mohndro of Montgomery, Mo., treated her to lunch at the Bob Evans Restaurant in Collinsville.

The honoree also enjoyed dinner at the Olive Garden Restaurant at St. Clair Square as the guest of daughter, Wanetta Pearson, and her niece, Alberta Cagle.

On Sunday, Maybell celebrated at a family get-together at the Country Buffet in Fairview Heights. All the honoree's children and grandchildren were present at the dinner and later went to the Pearson home for dessert.

Faith Chapel Bible School students presented a special program at the Sunday evening worship service.

The young people sang songs and read scriptures learned during Bible school. All focused on the program theme — "Friend-ship."

Students representing each class displayed a craft made by their classmates, and each student was presented a certificate of congratulation.

Daisy Ferguson accompanied her son and daughter-in-law, Doug and Wendy, to southern Illinois over the weekend to visit relatives.

They visited Daisy's sister and brother-in-law, Wanda and Tom McDonald, and her father, Joe Bennett, in Murphysboro.

The local visitors continued their trip to Alto Pass, where they had dinner with Daisy's brother and sister-in-law, Joe and Shirley Bennett, before returning to Murphysboro to spend the night with another sister of Daisy, Edna Caldwell and her husband, Finley.

Maxine Duniphan covers the Mitchell area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-2714.

Storytelling festival at New Salem

In the spirit of one of the world's greatest storytellers, the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency will present "Prairie Tales," the fourth annual New Salem Storytelling Festival, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 4 and 5 at Abraham Lincoln's New Salem State Historic Site.

"Prairie Tales" is a free weekend of entertainment for the whole family.

Eight nationally acclaimed storytellers will entertain at the Village Schoolhouse and the Wool Carding Mill, where special stages will be set up for the festival.

Stories and music about life in the 1830s, pioneer children and Lincoln will be performed by folk entertainers Mike Anderson, Dan Keding, Denise Anton Wright, Tom McDermott, Gayle Ross, Dan Robertson, Beth Horner and Elizabeth Ellis.

Stories told at the Carding Mill stage will be sign-language interpreted for persons with hearing impairment from 1 to 4 p.m. both days.

Persons attending are encouraged to bring blankets or chairs.

All of the historic log buildings, as well as the museum, will be open and staffed by volunteers in period clothing during the entire festival. "Prairie Tales" is sponsored by the IHPA and the New Salem Lincoln League.

Edwardsville 'walks' off with title

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The Triplets walked themselves out of the District 22 playoffs Thursday.

Post 113 pitchers issued 12 walks and Edwardsville Post 199 took advantage for a 9-3 win in the North Division playoff championship game at Varsity Field. Granite City's season, ended at 17-11, while Edwardsville (17-10) moves on to play the South Division champion (either Belleville or O'Fallon) in the best-of-three District 22 final this weekend.

Post 113 pitchers issued 12 walks and Edwardsville Post 199 took advantage for a 9-3 win in the North Division playoff championship game at Varsity Field. Granite City's season, ended at 17-11, while Edwardsville (17-10) moves on to play the South Division champion (either Belleville or O'Fallon) in the best-of-three District 22 final this weekend.

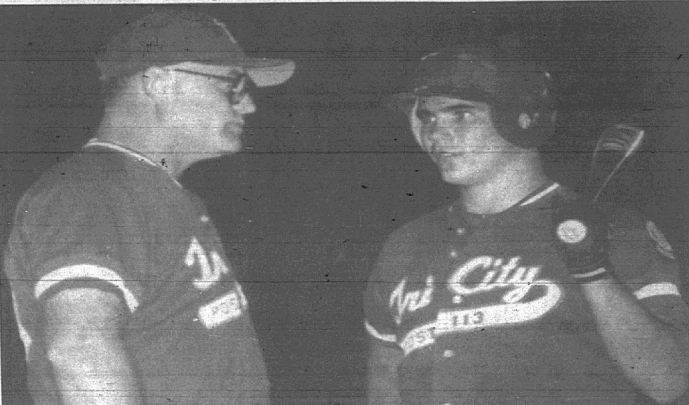

Tournament next weekend in Carle.

"We just didn't have any fresh arms," said Triplets manager Ralph Burnett. "We've been living on the edge for almost three weeks and tonight we ran out of pitching."

Tom Senecyn (5-3), who had pitched eight innings Monday and relieved on Tuesday, lost his 4th game Thursday, but his wildness finally caught up with him. He walked four and hit one batter in the first three innings, but got out of it every time.

Then Ryan Reeves hit his second home run in as many nights off Edwardsville starter Mark Little to lead off the bottom of the fourth for a 1-0 Granite City lead. But the Triplets missed a great chance to score more in the inning and Edwardsville finally made Senecyn pay for his wildness in the fifth. Three more walks loaded the bases with two outs and Tom Price blooped a double down the left field line to score two runs. Tim Miller followed with a two-run single to right and Todd Zude added another RBI hit off reliever Chris Hill before the inning ended.

"We came in with the idea of making Senecyn throw a lot of pitches," said Edwardsville manager Ken Schaake. "We were counting his pitches and we figured he would tire out and start getting the ball up at around 50. He was at about 65 when we finally broke through. I'm just glad it was only 1-0 before we got going."

After Reeves' home run, Joe Wallace walked and Brian Harshany doubled. But Rich Schardan fanned and Wallace was out in a rundown when Jim McKechnie couldn't get a suicide squeeze down. McKechnie fanned to end the inning. "We saw a chance to get a little lead there and that took something out of us," said Burnett. "But we didn't quit. We played a little sloppy late in the game, but they never really hit the ball hard until it was out of control." Trailing 5-1, the Triplets took one final shot at Edwardsville in the fifth. Chad Lignoul singled to a run off reliever Bob Ludlum, then Wallace got an RBI hit off Erice. But with the bases loaded and one out, Price fanned Harshany and Schardan. Edwardsville added two runs off Hill in the sixth and two more off Reeves in the seventh for the final nails in the coffin.

"They give us a tough time every game," said Schaake. "They have maybe three power hitters and the rest of them are good singles hitters. But Tom said he could work a little in relief and he got us out of a jam."

Schardan had a sore arm and Burnett was hesitant to use him on the mound or in the field. After Senecyn came out (eight walks), the Triplets had little left. Each team had seven hits, but the walks were fatal. "The Tuesday game (a 3-2 eight-inning loss to Edwardsville) is the one we'll keep coming back to when we think about this season," said Burnett, who is 71-42 in four summers. "We should have been resting Wednesday and that would have left us in a better situation tonight. But we showed a lot of character. We had a lot of opportunities to embarrass ourselves late in the game, but we kept trying."

South takes most golds at Prairie State Games

By Jim Woodcock
Staff writer

The Southern Region's 96 gold medals won in the seventh annual Prairie State Games were high among the eight regions in the July 12-15 games.

The South's 194 overall medals was good for fourth place, well ahead of fifth-place Wilcox (168). The final medals standings were released Tuesday by the Prairie State Games host committee.

"From our standpoint, it is the best the Southern Region has ever done," said committee member Steve Kelly. "The region had an advantage in that all of its soccer teams won a medal, and you count each player as one medal."

"But the open men's basketball team won the gold. In the five years I've been involved, this is the South's best showing overall."

Overall standings in past years were not kept as precisely as they are now, Kelly said. But the overall medal count each year favors North Shore, and 1990 was no exception.

North Shore — the northern Chicago suburbs — finished with 275 medals (80 gold, 116 Silver, 79 bronze). In second place was Pioneer (western suburbs) with 236 medals (68-110-58).

Following in the standings were Blue-Gray (Eastern Illinois, 221 medals, 87-59-75); Southern (194, 96-34-64); Wilcox (south suburbs, 168, 54-60-54); Blackhawk (Northwestern Illinois, 146, 51-51-44); Windy City (119, 50-30-39); and West Central (104, 28-36-40).

"This is great," said Southern Region director Mike Moore. "What we wanted to do was get more kids out at the trials and increase participation at the regional and state level. We did that."

"And the second thing we wanted to do was get the best athletes out. By looking at the standings, it appears we did that."

"You just try to put together a good staff and hope nothing breaks down. Everything worked out great."

Winning gold medals for the Southern Region were the open men's basketball and soccer teams, the scholastic boys soccer team, the scholastic girls tennis team, the open women's tennis team and numerous individual competitors.
